Disclosure of Information

Prince George’s County does not sell, rent, or publish any of our visitors’ personal or private information. We do not reveal specific information about subscribers or other personally identifiable data to unaffiliated third parties for their independent use, except in accordance with state and federal law. In addition, we endeavor to restrict employee access to any personal information except where necessary to perform required duties.

Unauthorized Access

Unauthorized attempts to modify any information stored on this system, to defeat or circumvent security features, or to utilize this system for other than the intended purposes are prohibited and may result in criminal prosecution.

Ownership of Information

The County’s information systems are the property of Prince George’s County Government and are intended for use in carrying out government business. Prince George’s County retains all property rights to all information created, generated, replicated, processed, and stored by users in the course of using equipment or software, and all such information is not the property of the users.

Privacy

Electronic records are official records of Prince George’s County Government. Such records are used by County personnel and agents and may be subject to release under federal and Maryland law including, but not limited to, Maryland Public Information Act (MPIA). As a result, Prince George’s County Government information systems users should have no expectation of privacy while using any County information systems.

For security and network maintenance purposes, authorized individuals may monitor equipment, systems and network traffic at any time. Prince George’s County reserves the right to audit networks and systems on a periodic or as needed basis to ensure compliance with this policy, identify, respond to and document security incidents. Prince George’s County Government further reserves the right to perform forensics and interrogations of data and equipment for authorized investigations.